Marjorie Slovack, ASID

Lauren Grumbles, ASID

This project began with extensive collaboration between the designer, architect and homeowners with the intent of capturing the original character of the house while expanding to meet the needs of an active family. Aside from the architectural input, the designer was involved in all material and finish selections, lighting design and specifications, all flooring selections, window treatments, custom furniture design and all of the fine artwork. During the course of the remodel, the house was given the distinction of being entered on the "Historical Register".
