

A formal dining room with a large, dark wood dining table and ornate chairs. A large arched window with sheer curtains allows natural light. A chandelier hangs from the ceiling. A decorative screen with a brick pattern stands near the wall.

Grand windows of this English home set the overall tone to this traditional dining room. Streaming daylight captivates the space by highlighting the subtle pattern on the faux finish walls and the lighter finish chosen for the beamed ceiling. The custom iron doors are a statement in themselves as they mark the entrance of a wine room covered entirely of brick clad. It is through these elements and details that pure sophistication was achieved.
